Construction to begin shortly

Final plans approved for new welfare site

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor

Construction on a new Fayette County Welfare Department office building will begin as soon as a contract is drawn up and signed by the county commissioners and that should occur shortly.

The commissioners Monday were presented with final plans for the office building which will be located on old W. Temple Street. The plans have already been approved by the State of Ohio.

Commissioner Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford said a contract for the new office building is being drawn up by County Prosecutor James A. Kiger and should be ready for signing in several days.

Once the new office building is completed by the Burke Monument Co. and McArthur Realty Co., the state of Ohio will pay most of the moving expenses for the county welfare department offices which are presently housed in a county-owned building at 119 E. Market St.

The state will also cover the monthly rent of the welfare office portion of the 50 by 120 foot building.

However, the Fayette County Children's Services offices will also be relocated in the building which has space for over 30 offices. The county will have to pay the rent for that office space.

The commissioners received four bids for an office building in August. The low bid was from the Burke Monument Co. and the McArthur Realty Co. and it was accepted.

Problems with the abandonment of a section of old Temple Street by the City of Washington C.H. delayed construction plans for a while. The Washington C.H. City Council finally approved the abandonment of the street in September and plans on the office building continued.

Council had passed a resolution seven years ago stating an intention to abandon the street. However, the action was not formalized by an ordinance until two months ago.

The abandonment was required before the exact site of the building could be decided. If the street had not been abandoned, the building would have had to be constructed at least 20 feet from the street. Once the abandonment was approved the building could be located nearer the street.

The building will be situated 13 feet from the abandoned street and just south of new Temple Street. The building will be named the Burke-McArthur Office Building.

The commissioners hope to move the welfare and children services offices into the building shortly after the first of the year.

No plans have been made for the Market Street building which is located across the alley from the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and which will be left vacant as soon as the move is made.

For old U.S. 35

Residents opposed to renaming route

Several Fayette County residents attended a public hearing Monday and voiced opposition to plans to rename old U.S. 35.

The hearing, which was held by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, was continued until next Monday at 1 p.m. in the commissioners' office.

A recommendation to rename old U.S. 35 was presented to the commissioners last month by Fayette County Engineer Donald Conley. He had hoped to have old U.S. 35-NW renamed Dayton Road and old U.S. 35-SE renamed Fayette Road.

With the completion of the U.S. 35 bypass, old U.S. 35 has reverted back to a county road, according to Conley.

He pointed out that addresses which refer to U.S. 35-NW or U.S. 35-SE are now misleading and causing confusion in the delivery of industrial products and United Parcel Service goods. Residential addresses are also confusing now that there is a U.S. 35 bypass as well as an old U.S. 35.

However, some area residents said they feel a change in name would disrupt mail deliveries even more.

The residents reportedly claimed that a change in the address name could disrupt their businesses which are based in their homes. Letterheads and other publications pertaining to their businesses carry the U.S. 35 address.

Wayne L. Hill, 2090 old U.S. 35-NW, who operates an electrical contracting business, and Mrs. Lester Jordan, 2099 old U.S. 35-NW, who operates a swine breeding company, were among the residents protesting the change in route names.

The commissioners will make a final decision on whether to rename the old U.S. 35 sections Dayton and Fayette roads next Monday.

Conley's choice of names was simple. Old U.S. 35-NW would be known as Dayton Road to correspond with Dayton Avenue once the Washington C.H. city limits are crossed. And, old U.S. 35-SE would be named Fayette Road to correspond with the city's Fayette Street.

In other action, Monday, the commissioners made two appointments to the county board of mental health and retardation.

Willis Geyer Jr. was appointed to a four-year term replacing Mrs. James Beatty, and Jane Bryan was reappointed to a four-year term. She was serving out the unexpired term of Elizabeth Fletcher.

The commissioners also made a $200

Ohio market basket survey shows

Grocers gulping hard to swallow losses on rising coffee prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Price information from a grocery wholesaler shows that supermarket managers have been gulping hard to swallow their losses on rising coffee prices in recent months.

And a spot check of marketing prices show wholesale and retail grocers waste no time in getting canned foods from canner to customer. Shelf times range from four days to a month, depending on merchandise. But some grocers say they pass along price hikes to customers immediately on the theory that replacement merchandise will be more costly.

Retail grocers got in their two cents worth on the Ohio AP Marketbasket survey at the end of October. That was the amount of the increase — two cents — on average prices of the 16 standard grocery items on which costs are checked each month in 16 Ohio cities.

The average cost at the end of October was $23.74, compared with $23.72 a month earlier. Average cost of the items a year ago was $19.39, and at the same time in 1975 it was $18.60.

Edward G. Harness, board chairman of Cincinnati grocery wholesaler Proctor & Gamble Co., reported last month he hopes the price of coffee will return to "pre-inflationary" levels during the next year or so.

Wholesale prices furnished by Harness, when compared with retail prices reported in the Ohio Marketbasket survey, indicates supermarket managers have been taking a loss on coffee in recent months.

Price comparisons from April 1, 1977, through the end of October, indicate retailers lost an average of 31 percent on the cost of a three-pound can of name-brand coffee last April 1. The loss continued at a declining rate until the end of September when Harness' wholesale figures, compared with AP Marketbasket retail figures, reflected a 2.7 percent profit for retailers.

That profit rose to 5.2 percent at the end of October when the cost of three pounds of coffee among the 16 survey cities averaged $10.04, down 2.1 percent from a month earlier. It was among eight items in the survey showing a price decline over the month.

Coffee

Break . . .

THE RECORD-HERALD will continue its five-part series compiled from a telephone survey conducted over a three-week period on Wednesday.

In Wednesday's article, we'll take a look at an apparent apathy trend among local voters.

The series will conclude on Thursday.

WITH WINTER months and snow-covered roads just around the corner, you should probably be thinking about safe driving practices.

One safe driving practice is studded tires. . . In Ohio, studded tires are permitted on roads between Nov. 1 and April 15. . . The state regulations on studded tires vary in neighboring states. . . They are permitted from Oct. 1 to May 1 in Indiana, all year round in Kentucky, and from Nov. 15 to April 1 in Michigan. . . Studded tires are not permitted on Pennsylvania roads.

EFFECTIVE Nov. 6, the new employee parking lot at Fayette County Memorial Hospital will be open.

Hospital Administrator Robert L. Kunz said all employees will be required to park behind the hospital; this will open up approximately 30 more parking spaces for the public. . . The public must park in front of, or at the side of, the hospital.

Kunz also said new speed checks have been installed on the Temple Street entrance to the hospital emergency room. . . He said caution is to be exercised when entering the hospital property.

Average costs rose on six items and two — 12 ounces of peanut butter and five pounds of granulated sugar — showed no change.

Biggest price jump was 16 per cent for a pound of chuck roast while the biggest decline was 5.6 percent for a head of lettuce.

Cost of a pound of hamburger declined 4.6 percent over the month while whole frying chicken rose 1.7 percent per pound. Center cut pork chops were down 2.2 percent per pound.

A half-gallon of whole milk rose 6.7 percent and a pound of margarine in sticks declined 1.6 percent. One dozen medium sized grade A white eggs declined 3 percent in cost while 10 pounds of white potatoes went up 12.8 percent, signaling the end of the plentiful supply of summer potatoes.

A 49-ounce box of detergent declined 2 percent and a 14½ ounce pack of chocolate chip cookies declined 2 percent.

A 12 ounce pack of frozen orange juice increased 1.2 percent and a pound of tomatoes increased 6.6 percent.

Average prices of the 16 items increased in 10 cities and declined in five. No price comparison was available for Canton.

Most costly city was Cincinnati where the total of $26.96 was up 8.5 percent over the previous month. Average cost in other reporting cities, with percent of change from the previous month, include:

Athens, $24.85, up 1.1 percent; Canton, $21.75, no comparison available, Chillicothe, $24.74, up 3.1 percent; Cleveland, $24.35, up .8 percent; Columbus, $24.07, up .2 percent; Conneaut, $23.87, up 3.7 percent; Findlay, $23.98, up 1.7 percent; Fremont, $24.35, down 4 percent; Massillon $20.03, down 6.3 percent; Portsmouth $24.64, down .1 percent; Salem, $23.21, up 1.1 percent; Steubenville $24.84, up 2 percent; Toledo, $22.54, up .5 percent; Van Wert, $22.31, down 2.4 percent; Youngstown $23.38, down 3.4 percent.

GREAT GOODIE RIPOFF — The great goodie ripoff of 1977 struck Fayette County area homes for two hours Monday night, bringing joy to the hearts of kids, dentists and candy manufacturers everywhere. Mrs. Charles W. (Barbara) Carson Jr., 628 Warren Ave., hands Halloween treats to a pair of unidentified trick-or-treaters. She is being assisted in the chore by "Schultzie," the family dachshund. Moderate temperatures attracted hundreds of trick-or-treaters Monday, with many area residences reporting supplies exhausted before the 8 p.m. curfew.

National security concern one factor

Former CIA director pleads no contest in Chilean affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says national security and concern for a "distinguished career" were factors in allowing former CIA Director Richard M. Helms to plead no contest to charges of failing to testify fully about CIA activities in Chile.

The Justice Department, with President Carter's concurrence, cited Helms' "outstanding services" Monday in asking a federal judge to impose the minimum $200 fine and suspend any jail sentence on two misdemeanor charges.

Helms, 64, entered the plea to charges stemming from 1973 testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which was holding hearings on his nomination to be U.S. ambassador to Iran.

The nomination by then-President Richard M. Nixon was subsequently confirmed by the Senate.

Assistant Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti said he expected Helms to be sentenced soon, perhaps as early as today.

The plea bargaining arrangement drew an immediate protest from Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who presided over a Senate subcommittee investigation into clandestine U.S. involvement in Chilean domestic politics.

"I thought there was to be an end to the double standard of justice for the big shots," Church said. "Apparently, Helms was just too hot to handle."

The government said, however, it agreed to the no-contest plea because "trial of this case would involve tremendous costs to the United States and might jeopardize national secrets."

Attorney General Griffin Bell said later that Carter had been told of the plea bargaining before the court session but was not involved in the particulars.

A White House statement said the president was aware of Justice Department strategy in the case and had approved the final decision Monday.

"We think it is a decision which upholds the authority of the law and the Congress while at the same time protecting the national security interest of this country," a White House statement said.

During the hearings, Helms was questioned about clandestine U.S. attempts to prevent the election of Marxist Salvador Allende as president of Chile in 1970.

White House trick or treat proves bumper to youngsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — No tricks. No treats. Not even peanuts at the White House this year. Halloween on Pennsylvania Avenue was a bummer.

That's what five tots discovered Monday night on a Halloween tour of who's who in the nation's capital.

Disguised as a bunny, a witch, a cowboy, a soldier and Groucho Marx, they arrived at the White House gates howling, "Trick or treat."

"Sorry, we don't have anything," said one of the guards.

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger wasn't home. Neither was Jackie Kennedy Onassis' mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, though a light was on in the servant's quarters.

The grand old diplomat, Averell Harriman, had a maid handing out dimes. And Lynda Johnson Robb, whose father used to be president, was pushing raisins.

At the CIA, only real-life spooks could get through the gates.

And at the Iranian embassy, home of caviar and champagne served by white-gloved butlers, there were no treats this year.

"This is a government building," the official greeter said.

The kids' five-star pumpkin award went to Ethel Kennedy, who lives on an estate called Hickory Hill in McLean, Va.

In her front yard, where the late Sen. Robert Kennedy used to play touch football with his brood, a straw witch riding a broom dangled from a tree.

Inside, where fireplaces on either side of the hallway were burning, two maids presided over a table filled with mugs of cider and a dozen kinds of candy.

Down the road, nobody answered the door at Sen. Edward Kennedy's home until the cowboy yelled, "Trick or treat, smell my feet." His reward: peanut crunch.

Deaths, Funerals

Ralph N. Agle

JEFFERSONVILLE — Ralph N. Agle, 85, of 5737 Ohio 734-NW, died at 12:30 p.m. Monday in his home.

Born in Clark County, Mr. Agle had resided in the Jeffersonville area for the past 47 years. He was a farmer and an internationally known breeder and raiser of American saddle horses. He bred and raised two world champions.

A member of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church, Mr. Agle was a member of the Fayette County Farm Bureau, a past director of Fayette Landmark, Inc., served on the former Jeffersonville Board of Education, was a member of the board of supervisors of the Fayette Soil and Water Conservation District, and was one of the founding members of the Fayette County Shepherd's Club.

He was preceded in death by his wife, the former Dorothea Myers, in 1974.

He is survived by two sons, Robert C. and R. Edgar (Ed) Agle, both of 5737 Ohio 734-NW; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Eltzroth, 6346 Ohio 734; five grandchildren; a brother, Edwin C. Agle, of South Vienna, and three sisters, Miss Nettie Mae Agle and Mrs. Roy (Clara) Ireland, both of South Vienna, and Mrs. Ray (Glenna) Silver, of South Charleston.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home, Jeffersonville, with the Rev. Eugene Griffith and the Rev. Dr. Haskell Moore officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Calling hours wrong

Calling hours for William F. Himmelsch, 69, of 1606 Sunset Drive, will be held Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C.H.

The calling hours were incorrectly listed for Wednesday in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald.

Mr. Himmelsch died Sunday in Mt. Carmel Medical Center, Columbus, where he had been a patient for six weeks.

Funeral mass for the former owner and operator of the Himmelsch Photography Studio in Washington C.H. will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Wednesday in St. Colman Catholic Church. The Rev. Father David Petry will officiate. Burial will be in St. Colman Catholic Cemetery.

A rosary service will be held Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the funeral home.

Donald L. Wise

GREENFIELD — Donald L. Wise, 66, Rt. 2, Greenfield, died at 12:15 a.m. Monday in Manatee Memorial Hospital in Bradenton, Fla.

Born in Greenfield, Mr. Wise was formerly in the grocery business in Dayton, and was employed by the Kirsch Cash Co. in Dayton. He was also engaged in farming.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Hollar, whom he married June 15, 1956; a brother, Jack B. Dreher, of Bainbridge, and a sister, Mabel Stewart, of Greenfield. He was preceded in death by three brothers and two sisters.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Miss Bertha Drummond

GREENFIELD — Miss Bertha M. Drummond, 80, Rt. 1, Lyndon, died at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe.

Born in Ross County, she was a member of the South Salem Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by three sisters, Miss Winifred Drummond, Rt. 1, Lyndon, Mrs. Edwin (Ida) Eiselgroth, Rt. 6, Chillicothe, and Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Sturgeon, Rt. 2, Frankfort; four brothers, Lloyd, of Clarksburg, Miley, of Orient, Charles, Rt. 2, Greenfield, and Clarence, Rt. 1, Lyndon. She was preceded in death by a sister and two brothers.

Services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Clair Emerick officiating. Burial will be in South Salem Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

CARL H. PUMMEL—Services for Carl H. Pummel, 52, of 6400 Kinston Park Drive, Memphis, Tenn., were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. William Raper and the Rev. Dan Lambert officiating.

Mr. Pummel, a realtor for the J. W. Curry and Son Realty Co. in Memphis, and veteran of the U. S. Navy during World War I, died Wednesday.

The flag was folded by Henry Litz and Stu Gossard of the Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post, and presented to his wife, Janet.

Pallbearers for the burial in the Bloomingburg Cemetery were Scott and Brad Pummel, Gary Evans, Russell Haney, Bryan Boggs and Dale Chantry.

Energy tax breaks okayed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multi-billion-dollar Senate package of energy tax breaks is headed for a congressional conference committee that is likely to combine it with some of the heavy new energy taxes passed earlier by the House.

The final compromise bill probably will mean higher prices for just about everything produced in the United States, along with some tax breaks to encourage conservation.

The Senate bill, approved 52-35 Monday night, aims to encourage fuel conservation and increased energy production with dozens of tax breaks. It is estimated they would cost the federal treasury about $42 billion over the next eight years.

The House measure takes the opposite tack, relying on taxation to raise energy prices and force conservation. President Carter's proposals were similar to the House version.

The conference committee, which could tackle the tax bill next week, faces the problem of deciding which parts of the two versions should be retained.

Most of the tax advantages in the Senate bill would be for business and industry. But there's a tax break of up to $400 for those who make their homes more energy efficient: up to $150 a year for heating with oil or propane and $75 a year for most elderly Americans.

The Senate bill continues the present income tax deduction for state and Radha K. Ramphul of Mauritius, said his group "likely" would propose amendments to the resolution.

The new resolution, introduced Monday night by West Germany and Canada, would call on all U.N. members to stop shipments of weapons to South Africa's white government until the Security Council lifted the ban. But local gasoline taxes, and extends through Sept. 30, 1985, the current gasoline tax of 4 cents per gallon. The House version would end the tax deduction.

The House bill would raise taxes by about $40 billion over the next eight years, but a big share of that would be rebated to consumers and business. The only new tax in the Senate bill would raise about $5 billion.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chief sponsor of the Senate measure, said while the Senate opposes new taxes, it probably would accept some of them if coupled with tax incentives.

The Senate's incentives for business, including some new ones for oil and gas producers, would save an estimated two million barrels of imported oil per day by 1985. The House plan would save about the same.

Carter's original plan was built on four major taxes. The House rejected one — a standby gasoline tax of 50 cents a gallon — and approved watered-down versions of the others: on crude oil, to force conservation; on industrial use of oil and natural gas, to encourage conversion to coal, and on inefficient cars.

The Senate voted a reduced version of the industrial tax, applying it only to plants built in the future and to the estimated 11 percent of existing facilities that can convert to coal. The other taxes were rejected.

Mass abduction defendants enter guilty pleas in cases

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Three men who admit kidnapping a Chowchilla school bus driver and 26 children last year now must defend themselves against charges that the victims were injured in the stranger-than-fiction ordeal.

Bus driver Ed Ray, who became the hero of the mass abduction, was scheduled as the lead-off witness today.

Fred Woods, 26, James Schoenfeld, 26, and his brother, Richard Schoenfeld, 24, have pleaded guilty to the kidnapping, the motive for which remains a mystery.

The plea could get them life sentences with eligibility for parole in seven years. But they have pleaded innocent to "kidnapping with bodily harm," a charge that carries a mandatory life term without the possibility of parole.

Eight of the kidnapped children were also to appear in the trial, confronting their abductors for the first time since July 1976.

The defense, aware that children will be the star witnesses, has chosen a trial by judge rather than by jury which might be swayed by sympathy for the youngsters.

The defendants claim that not only

Several incidents

probed by firemen

An automobile fire was investigated by Washington C.H. firefighters early Tuesday on McElwain Street.

The engine wiring of a 1974 model Ford ignited in flames about 2:15 this morning. Fire department officials said the cause of the fire, which resulted in an estimated $200 damage, was undetermined.

The car belonged to Mary L. Long. According to the fire report, the fire was extinguished by Charles M. Long before firefighters arrived. No injuries were reported.

Leaf fires also kept firefighters busy Monday night as they doused five of the purposely set blazes.

According to fire department officials, all five fires were set with matches, but did not cause any property damage. Three of the small fires occurred around 7:15 p.m. in front of 623 Van Deman St. and 630 and 643 Oakland Ave. The other two began about 6:58 p.m. in front of 803 Oakland Ave. and around 7:28 p.m. near 136 Fairview Ave.

Firefighters also received a report of a structure fire at 316 Worley St. about 10:34 p.m. Monday, but upon investigation discovered the report was a false alarm.

Monday morning a reported natural gas leak was investigated by firemen at a Gregg Street residence.

Fire officials reported Grace E. Fout of 504 Gregg St. complained of smelling gas in her home. Firemen found an odor being emitted from a furnace, but no gas leak was discovered.

were the children unharmed, but there also was never any intention to harm them.

Prayer breakfast draws 28 persons

Twenty-eight teens and teachers participated in the teen prayer breakfast held at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

Charles Starkey delivered the devotion in the sanctuary, using the subject "How to get an Introduction to Christ."

Karl Gass, a sophomore at Miami Trace, led the group singing accompanied by Judy Carson, a junior at Miami Trace.

A breakfast of scrambled eggs with dried beef, toast, applesauce, milk, cereal and fruit juice was served by Mrs. Paul Smith, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Frank Creamer.

Steve Hidy, a sophomore at Miami Trace, gave the student devotion and used the subject of "Brotherly Love" to base his remarks on.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be held Tuesday, Nov. 8 at 7 a.m. All teens, grades 9-12, are welcome as well as all teachers.

Mainly About People

Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case, 330 Jupiter St., is recovering from a heart attack suffered last Wednesday. He is expected to be released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital by the end of the week.

Stock market heads lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower in early trading today, showing signs of broadening the trend signaled by blue chip issues Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 6.33 points to 812.02 within the first half hour of trading.

Unlike Monday, when overall trading on the New York Stock Exchange showed losing and gaining issues nearly balanced, the losers outnumbered gainers by more than 2-to-1 in today's early trading tally.

Analysts said the Federal Reserve's efforts to further clamp down on credit Monday was one negative factor influencing the market.

Early prices of active issues included Standard Oil of California, off 3/4 at 38 3/4; Vetco Inc., down 1 to 22 3/4; American Telephone & Telegraph, off 1/4 to 59 1/4; and General Electric, down 3/4 to 49 3/4.

On Monday, the market closed narrowly lower, ending three consecutive sessions of gains. The Dow industrial average closed down 4.33 at 818.35. Of 1,841 issues traded on the NYSE, 691 declined while 652 advanced.

Leased plane safety

The crash near McComb, Miss., that killed three members of the Lynrd Skynyrd rock band and three other persons prompts new concern about privately chartered planes. This accident raises once again the question whether pertinent federal regulations, and their enforcement, are adequate.

At this point it cannot be said whether the plane, leased by the band last April, was in unsafe condition. That determination must be made by the Federal Aviation Administration. Pending the outcome of the FAA inquiry, however, it is noteworthy that some of those who had been traveling in the aircraft had expressed doubts as to its airworthiness.

According to one of the survivors, stage manager Clayton Johnson, just before boarding the plane for the fatal flight he and four others had discussed whether they should refuse to fly in it again. He also was quoted as saying that Cassie Gaines, a singer killed in the crash, had (in the words of an Associated Press story) "talked with him about riding from concert to concert in the equipment truck instead of the plane."

There is nothing substantive in this about the plane's condition. Johnson's comments do suggest that something correctable may have been amiss before it took off. One may ask whether more careful inspection would have found the problem, if there was one - and whether remedial action on the ground might have averted the crash.

If air safety experts conclude that this was the case, that should be taken by the FAA as a signal to tighten its regulations and enforcement procedures. And no matter what the investigation shows, a review of those regulations and procedures appears to be in order.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

Why not science court for consumers?

Is John Hanley, the head of the Monsanto Company, on to something? Dismayed by the one-sidedness of many of our consumer safety advocates, who seem never to have heard of the concept of risk-benefit analysis when they embark on their crusades against monosodium glutamate and saccharin, he suggests that a Science Court be constituted to bring a rule of reason to bear on each and every charge that we are stuffing our food and drink with dangerous chemicals.

The idea of setting up a tribunal of impartial scientific talent is a good one in the abstract. But who would appoint it? Aye, there's the rub. Since we live in a democracy, the consumers of decaffeinated coffee, diet colas and Chinese food would have to have some say on the subject. After all, it is their stomachs that are involved.

The trouble is that the consumers have been terribly confused by those who profess to speak for them. Nobody elected Ralph Nader, for instance, to be our Number One Consumer Advocate, yet there he is, demanding that a Consumer Protective Agency be set up in his image to ride herd on all the lesser agencies (the Federal Trade Commission, the Department of Agriculture, the Food and Drug Administration, etc.) that are supposed to watch out for our health and safety. A Science Court established without Sir Ralph's blessing would have to spend half its time developing really superior public relations techniques to keep its franchise.

In any case, business could not nominate candidates for the court without encountering the chronic disbelief that greets any corporate pronouncement. This disbelief is horribly unfair. But, as Jimmy Durante would put it, them is the conditions that prevail. For 40 years we have been a brainwashed people.

I can think of one consumer organization that I would trust to make unprejudiced nominations for a Science Court. The new Consumer Alert Council, with headquarters in Stamford, Conn., is run by Barbara Keating, a Vietnam War widow with five children who was a candidate in 1974 for the U.S. Senate on the Conservative Party ticket in New York State. After losing her own run for the Senate, she worked as a special assistant to Sen. James Buckley. The aim of Barbara Keating's consumer protection organization is to "bring about a better balance between the need to protect health and safety and the increasing burden of costly and restrictive government regulation." In short, the Consumer Alert Council advocates substituting risk-benefit analysis for the usual axe-grinding of the doom-saying fanatics.

Whether we have a Science Court or not, it is time to ask our consumer safety advocates for scientific credentials. Not all chemicals are bad, and even those that have a potential for danger when consumed in volume are harmless enough when taken in minute proportions. Saccharin, swallowed in huge doses, may have caused cancer in Canadian male rats, but obese people and diabetics have used it as a synthetic sweetener in small daily amounts for more than 80 years without any demonstrated ill effects. The risk-benefit ratio here would seem to be decidedly in favor of letting diabetics have their sweetener.

As a matter of scientific fact, our "completely natural" foods consist of chemicals, some of which would not pass a 100 per cent purity test. There has been a quarrel about decaffeinating agents for coffee, one of which has been labeled, whether fairly or not, as a carcinogen, or cancer-causing substance. But even a cup of non-decaffeinated coffee contains naturally occurring chemicals such as methanol, acetone, isoprene and other substances with equally scary names.

We eat vegetables that contain natural arsenic and fruits that are laced with nickel, which could be a carcinogen if it were a rat's only diet. Recently we had a peanut scare: moldy peanuts contain a carcinogen named aflatoxin. Presumably an anti-Carter Republican set this one afloat with malicious intent to hurt the Plains, Ga., peanut business. But Herbert Hoover ate peanuts all his life at baseball games and lived to be over 90.

Since the American public has been conditioned distrust business, I suggest that Barbara Keating's Consumer Alert Council set up a Science Court of its own. I'm sure that President Hanley of the Monsanto Company, though he originated the idea of the Science Court, would not mind having his suggestion stolen by a responsible consumer protection group.

Waverly, in Pike County, was named from Sir Walter Scott's Waverly novels, and grew so rapidly after the Ohio-Erie Canal went to Waverly instead of the county seat, Piketon, it replaced Piketon as the county seat. — AP

Tight supply linked to tax breaks

Home insulation shortage studied

By The Associated Press

Visions of a future tax break and memories of past winter heating bills have prompted millions of consumers to improve their home insulation. They have also caused concern about shortages and shady business practices.

President Carter's proposal to provide up to $400 in tax credits for homeowners who install insulation, storm windows and other energy-saving devices is still pending as Congress grapples with the administration's energy package.

But the Department of Commerce says the sue of insulation has increased already. The department said three million homes were reinsulated in the first half of 1977, up from only 750,000 homes in the same period a year earlier.

The department estimates there will be enough insulation this year for 1.9 million new homes, 3.4 million existing homes and 300,000 mobile home. But the ultimate market is much bigger.

A National Bureau of Standards study in 1974 — the latest year for which figures are available — showed that some 40 million, owner-occupied, single-family homes needed more insulation. Eighteen million of the homes had no insulation at all.

Manufacturers in the $700 million industry also warn of tight supplies, particularly of fiberglass. The Federal Trade Commission is investigating competition in the industry, and the Consumer Product Safety Commission has held hearings on safety aspects of insulation.

Meanwhile, the two agencies have some advice for consumers who are considering hiring a contractor or installing their own insulation.

There are three basic types of insulation:

—Mineral wool. This includes rock wool and fiberglass and accounts for 80 to 85 per cent of residential insulation. It can be blown in place or purchased in blankets or "batts" with a vapor barrier to prevent moisture inside a building from passing through walls and ceilings and condensing on the insulation.

—Plastic foam. Made of polystyrene, polyurethane or urea formaldehyde, it can be purchased in pre-formed sheets or can be injected into existing walls as a wet foam by a contractor.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Man much ashamed of slovenly wife

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. She could be a nice-looking woman but she doesn't care how she looks. She never dresses up anymore, and I'm tired of seeing her in the same sloppy jeans, ratty sweater and run-down sandals. She doesn't even look clean to me. I'm ashamed to take this pig anywhere.

Abby, do you think it's possible to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: If you could (which I doubt), where could you take a sow with one ear and a silk purse? Sorry, but you married the whole sow.

DEAR ABBY: My husband held a very important position at a bank. Last week he was fired because a woman customer told his boss that my husband had made a pass at her. (Instead of being "fired", they asked for his resignation so it wouldn't appear on his work record.)

They refused to tell my husband (me) who the woman was. My husband swears that he didn't make a pass at anybody. I called his boss, and he assured me that my husband had propositioned this woman. Abby, my husband is a fine man; it's hard to believe he's guilty of these charges.

I have tried to get this out of my mind, but I just can't. I must find out who the woman is so I can confront her and get to the bottom of this.

What do you advise?

ILL AT EASE

DEAR ILL: If your husband was fired on the basis of a false accusation, and if his record at the bank is otherwise above reproach, he should retain a lawyer. Whether or not your husband is rehired, he has a right to protect his good name.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for publishing all those letters from women who admit that they didn't enjoy sex all that much. I thought maybe there was something wrong with me until I heard that lots of women felt the same way.

I raised four children (all married now), and my husband and I have really had a good marriage. But as far as sex is concerned, I have been living a lie for 25 years. I have never really enjoyed sex, but I have learned to fake it so well, believe it or not, my husband says I'm oversexed!

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: According to my mail, if all the women who deserve an Academy Award for convincing performances were placed end to end, they'd reach Masters and Johnson's in St. Louis.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 1, the 305th day of 1977. There are 60 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, the United States exploded the first hydrogen bomb, at Eniwetok Atoll in the Marshall Islands.

On this date: In 1755, an earthquake killed 60,000 persons in Lisbon, Portugal.

In 1765, a group of American colonists defied British royal governors as the London government tried to enforce a stamp act.

In 1788, the U.S. Continental Congress, which had first met in 1774, was adjourned.

In 1864, the U.S. Post Office introduced postal money orders.

In 1940, British bombers hit Naples, Italy, for the first time in World War II.

In 1950, two Puerto Rican nationalists tried to force their way into Blair House in Washington in an attempt to assassinate President Harry S. Truman. One of them was killed by guards.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson told a news conference that war protesters were no help in trying to bring peace to Vietnam.

Five years ago: Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, accused President Richard Nixon of making "undercover deals" with big business to ensure his re-election.

One year ago: Americans went to the polls to choose between President Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter of Georgia.

Today's birthday: Opera singer Victoria de los Angeles is 53 years old.

Thought for today: Liberty means responsibility. That is why most men dread it — playwright George Bernard Shaw.

Toothpaste treat for ghosts, goblins

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Lots of people give candy to trick-or-treaters. Dr. Jerry Evans gives toothbrushes.

Evans and his wife, Joan, make up dozens of Halloween-decorated packages, each of which holds small toys, a toothbrush. But no candy.

"We preach to the kids all year long to brush their teeth and avoid too much candy," he said. "So we felt it was better not to give candy."

The Evans' effort is not always appreciated by costumed kids.

"I've found a couple of toothbrushes in the street the next morning," Evans admitted.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Be especially cooperative with associates. Good team work will produce better results than lone-wolf action.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Persistence will be the key to advancing your personal interests. Keep trying and friends will rally 'round and give their support.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Sometimes your impulsiveness gets you into trouble, but some spur-of-the-moment activities launched now could have surprisingly good results.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Your judgment vindicated. A message from someone "in the know" will confirm your own beliefs and consequent decisions.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Note the fine points in complicated matters, issues of importance. Make statements, decisions with particular care. Past procedures may have to be changed.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Your imagination highly stimulated and, while you may not capitalize on new ideas immediately, they should be highly productive in the future.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Work constructively, but insert a novel twist into routine to relieve monotony and make it more pleasing. You may renew an old friendship.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Plan your schedule early and only deviate where a better arrangement is presented or discovered. Apply brakes sensitively in pleasures, risky activities.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Do not go overboard in your enthusiasms. Look well before you invest time, talents, money. But neither be so fearful that you miss advantages and pass over good buys.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

If you do not notice "small" errors and where you miss chances for "little" gains, you will probably not see the big ones. Be alert.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You may have to deal with some "odd" or unreasonable persons. Be tactful if you would learn how to "communicate" and solve differences.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Read Aquarius. Your outlook similar. Seek to know all you can about those with whom you deal, their feelings on various subjects, and express yourself precisely but considerately.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with remarkable intuition, insight and a subtle sense of humor. Although undemonstrative most of the time, you are, nevertheless, devoted to family and friends, and will never let them down. Extremely versatile, you could make an outstanding success in the business world, where your gift of leadership would be invaluable; can write brilliantly, and have a talent for acting. Also, like many others of your Sign, you could excel in the law (often leading to statesmanship) and are a born physician.

Drug abuse program reviewed

Each year, the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club sponsors an area student to attend the Institute for Alcohol and Other Drugs. Monday night, the club received a report on the institute which was held last summer at Dennison University.

Mrs. Karen French, a counselor at Washington Senior High School, attended Monday's Kiwanis meeting and introduced three seniors who represented the local high school at the institute.

The institute brings young Ohioans together to discuss problems of and remedies for drug abuse.

Greg Gilmore told the Kiwanians that family discussion groups were organized at the institute. Each group spent approximately five hours a day together exploring any type of problems the individuals in the group had experienced.

Jane Henry reported that she went to the institute with a closed mind about drugs, but came away having learned to understand why some young people turn to drugs. She said she now looks at the drug problem in a more mature way.

INSTITUTE REPS—Four Washington C.H. Senior High School students who have attended the annual Institute on Alcohol and Drug Abuse attended the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club meeting Monday night to report on the institute, which gives young people a chance to discuss and study drug abuse problems. Annually the local Kiwanis Club sponsors a student to attend the institute. The students are (from left to right) Pam Curtis, Julie Smith, Jane Henry, and Greg Gilmore.

Julie Smith reported on a project the representatives to the institute are presently working on.

With the assistance of Pam Curtis, last year's representative to the institute, a play is being written entitled,

"Who Am I." The play will be presented to elementary, middle school, and high school students in the city.

The four students presented a preview of the play to the Kiwanis Club members.

In closing the program, Mrs. French expressed her appreciation to the Kiwanis Club for its annual sponsorship of an area student to the institute.

In closing the meeting, president Gerald Ragland introduced two members of the Downtown Columbus Kiwanis Club who were on an interclub visit.

Control board releases funds for Honda cycle plant sewer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is moving promptly with the commitments it made to attract Honda Motor Co.'s first U.S. motorcycle assembly plant to a site near Marysville in Union County.

The state Controlling Board allowed the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency on Monday to loan $860,000 to the City of Marysville to expand its sewer system to accommodate the Japanese firm.

Under EPA's agreement with the city, the loan will be repaid with fees it will charge users of the expanded system, probably over a period of four or five years. EPA Director Ned Williams told the board.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders agreed earlier this month to a commitment of about $2.5 million in state funds to provide certain services for the $25 million Honda plant.

Other funds are expected to be allocated later for improved water service in the area, along with an upgrading of existing highway and rail facilities.

The site picked by Honda is adjacent to the Ohio Transportation Research Center near the Logan-Union County line, and Honda has agreed to purchase a 217-acre site from private sources.

However, the Japanese company also requested that it be allowed later to purchase an additional 213 acres of research facility land — if it should decide to expand into automobile production. A bill already has been introduced in the legislature which would permit that sale.

Honda said it expects to break ground early next year for the plant which will employ 500 persons initially in the manufacture of about 60,000 motorcycles a year — for sale in this country and for export.

In other business, at a routine meeting of the board, the bureau of worker's compensation received $25,000 in state emergency funds to continue its investigation into alleged abuses of the workmen's compensation system.

'Country Music and Loretta Lynn' topics of Jeff Progress Club

The Jeffersonville Progress Club held the second autumn meeting when Mrs. Charles Seibert and Mrs. Max Morrow combined hospitalities in the home of Mrs. Seibert, when they heard two interesting reviews of "Country Music" and "Loretta Lynn." The reviews were presented by Mrs. Ivis Ritenour and Mrs. Emma Lou Spahr. Sixteen members were present and responded to roll call by giving a country music song.

Miss Helen Fuhs and Mrs. Grace Lanum gave reports. Mrs. Bernice Janes read John Denver's "Country Road" representing "Take me home" songs of young peoples liberated life style; all roads lead to home.

Mrs. Ritenour told the group that Country Music and her topic of "Take Me Home" and of the rise of country music, had in the past few years achieved popularity extending far beyond the rural locales of its down home roots. It has become a basic element of world culture, increasingly popular in urban centers in the Soviet Union, England, Germany and even Japan.

Steven Price wrote the book, "Take Me Home" with its appeal of being twofold. First, the words and the music display a tremendous variety of moods and emotions from romp and stomp, fiddle hoedowns to mournful, heart wrenching ballads of unrequited love; then the kind of life out of which country music evolved and which it continues to represent speaks to those who practice or yearn for an uncluttered way of life-blue skies and blue jeans, a whoop of joy or an unabashed burst of tears, pure and natural emotions and settings.

In a very real way, country music is a part of America's growing concern with honesty and living in harmony with nature. "Take Me Home" traces the story of country and western music from its beginnings into Anglo-Irish ballads to the current "Nashville Sound," using the lyrics of the songs as guideposts to important historical developments.

The encounter of white rural music with black music, the emergence of cowboy songs in the frontier society of the American West, the formation of string bands, banjo, fiddle and guitar in the South as precursors of the "hillbilly" music, the rise of the professional "country" musicians at the beginning of the century, the emergence of "blue grass" to the use of the electrically amplified instruments, and the detailed account of the country and western phenomenon will enhance the understanding and listening pleasure of novice and hard-core alike.

Mr. Price's account came from being an enthusiastic participant in and observer of the country music scene for the past 15 years.

Mrs. Spahr gave a very interesting review of "Loretta Lynn," America's Queen of Country Music, and well known as "Well, I was born a Coal miner's daughter, on a hill in Butcher Holler." Born in Butcher Holler, Ky., her father's name was Melvin Webb. One of his grandmothers was a full blooded Cherokee squaw and it was the same on her mother's side-so that made her one-fourth Cherokee, and Loretta is proud of it.

Loretta is superstitious, believes in re-incarnation and extrasensory perception, and she has a feeling there are more changes to be made in her life. She was married when not quite 14 years of age, and had four babies by the time she was 18 years old. She says when she sings the country songs about women struggling to keep things going, she 'has been there.' Now she owns a huge ranch in Tennessee, has been on the cover of Newsweek magazine, and was the first woman ever named in the Gallup Poll as one of the most admired women in the United States. Loretta married a man whom she calls Doolittle, and nicknamed "Mooney" when she found out he used to make moonshine in Washington State.

Loretta says she is always making Butcher Holler sound like the most backward part of the United States, and maybe it is, but having traveled all over this country, she "ain't seen nothin' like it." Mooney helped Loretta start her career 17 years ago. He likes spending his time on their ranch, raising corn and soybeans, horses, mules and bison. The 4500 acre ranch is 65 miles west of Nashville. Mooney doesn't like touring with his wife, who only spends an average of a month or two a year at the ranch.

She was the first woman artist to receive a Gold Album for one million sales, the first woman ever selected entertainer of the year by the Country Music Association in 1972. That year she also won an award with Conway Twitty for vocal duo of the year, and named female vocalist of the year. She says she is starting to dress more modern, watches how the young people are looking for answers, and has put her life in God's hands.

Loretta's sister, Chrystal Gayle, won the top female vocalist of the County Music Association Award for 1977. Loretta won it in 1972 and has been a three time winner.

Mrs. Bernice Janes closed the meeting by reading "Country Music" by Mabel Rayfield.

Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Seibert served a dessert course during the social hour. Mrs. Robert Owens and Mrs. Kenneth Spahr will entertain the next group meeting Nov. 8. Each will respond to roll call by giving her favorite newscaster.

Miss Benson complimented at shower

Miss Nancy Benson, bride-elect of David Randall, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Donald Cockerill, Mrs. Brad Crosby and Mrs. Ed Bonner in the home of Mrs. Cockerill, Ohio 41-SW.

Invited guests were Mrs. William Benson and Mrs. Ralph Randall, mothers of the couple, Miss Sara Benson, Miss Debra Benson, Miss Mary Ford, Mrs. Homer Chaney, Mrs. Tom Meriweather, Mrs. Homer Clark, Miss Terri Clark, Mrs. Everett Reynolds, Mrs. Avonelle Stonebraker, Mrs. Charles Miltstead, Mrs. Carroll Rogers, Mrs. J. D. Ladd, Mrs. Jack Sanders, Mrs. Linda Riley, Miss Dawn Riley and Mrs. Evelyn McCoy, all of Washington C. H.

Also Mrs. Mary Lou Wilt of Galloway; Mrs. Charles Hays, Miss Jodi Hays of Oak Hill; Mrs. Virgil Benson, Mrs. Michael Randall of Columbus; Mrs. Denver Bernard, Mrs. Sid Difenbach of Grove City; Mrs. Robert Carl of Milledgeville; Mrs. Dorcas Tillis, Mrs. Harry Tillis of Sabina; Mrs. Noah Grooms, Mrs. Randy Dell, Mrs. Allen Sams, Mrs. Dale Webb of Wilmington; and Mrs. Paul Whitt of Lucasville.

A rust and green color theme prevailed. A dessert course was served following the opening of many lovely gifts by Nancy.

The couple will be married Nov. 26.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM A. METAIS

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church setting for Hidy-Metais vows

Miss Susan Elizabeth Hidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hidy of 632 Perdue Plaza, became the bride of William Andre Metais, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Metais, 330 E. Paint St., at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 23.

The Rev. Leroy Davis, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Flower arrangements accented the altar. Danny VanDyke presented wedding selections.

Susan wore a cream colored street-length dress with lace capelet, which she fashioned herself. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses with white streamers. The bride wore a diamond pendant necklace and diamond earrings.

Mrs. Robert Reeves, bridesmatron, wore a blue dress and carried a colonial bouquet.

John Moore of Dayton, served as best man.

A reception for the couple followed in the Washington Country Club. Hostesses for the reception were the Misses Jenny Hidy and Lyn Mason, and Mrs. Mike Flynn.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Metais are now residing at 624 Perdue Plaza, following a wedding trip to Tennessee.

Mr. Metais, a graduate of Ohio Northern University, Ada, is employed in the advertising department at The Record-Herald. Mrs. Metais, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, is employed by French Hardware.

Senior Citizens honor birthdays for September and October

The Senior Citizens of Delaware St., met for the September and October birthday party on Friday at the Center. The tables were decorated with flowers and a Halloween theme. The Rev. Henry Simmons gave the invocation.

Pre-dinner music, which included "Happy Birthday," was played by Mrs. Dorothy Giebelhouse at the piano, and Billie Underwood and Doris Diffendal on the violins.

Mary Jean Jennings, from the Fayette County Board of Elections, explained the issues to be voted on at the Election on Tuesday, Nov. 8. A question and answer session followed.

Russell Theobald on the drums, accompanied by Mrs. Giebelhouse at the piano, played "Turkey in the Straw." A request was made for some hymns and "Amazing Grace" and "How Great Thou Art" was played. Mrs. Warfield sang "Mother Maccree."

Kenneth Craig, a judge for the costume contest, presented Mrs. Giebelhouse a prize for having the best costume.

Director Mary Frances Snider announced that Harry Thornhill and Lana Taylor, members of the Senior Citizens, will be married in Good Shepherd Lutheran Church at 2:30 p. m. Nov. 6, with a reception to follow in the lower church. All Senior Citizens are invited to the open church wedding.

Camp Fire

Orientation to the Camp Fire organization, a yearly schedule of activities of the Paint Valley Council, and suggestions for Blue Bird meetings were among the activities of the recent training session for Blue Bird leaders. Resource books were presented, and Starbird and Solo Flight awards were discussed. The program which was directed by Mrs. Gerald Wheat, was attended by 15 leaders.

Those attending their first training session were Carol Crawford, Celina Herron, Sally Leeth, Connie Lightle, Judy Long, Sally Phillips, Jean Reeves and Pansy Trout. Leaders adding to their training hours were Bonnie Blue, JoAnn Brady, Carrie Ferguson, Sharon Grooms, Theda Justice, Ailene Nichols and Glenda Sheets.

Auxiliary meets

The meeting of the Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. Becky Seaman with six members present. The group announced that they had donated a high chair, baby swing and six bibs to the children's ward at Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

The annual Christmas party will be held at 6 p. m. Dec. 8 at the Terrace Lounge with a gift exchange. The children's party will be at 1:30 p. m. Dec. 17 at the Fire Department.

The last meeting of the year will be the December party when new officers will be elected.

Can walking be an exercise in living?

Muscle through disuse becomes weak. Our present day philosophy of 'why walk when you can ride', 'why stand when you can sit', 'why sit when you can lie down', reduces our zest for living.

There may be social reasons for children riding in busses to school, but for a healthy adulthood, they would be better off walking. Walking will activate muscles and put tone and strength in them that has dissipated through disuse. You can understand our government's concern for the physical fitness of our citizens.

There is no better formula for a good trim figure: flat stomach, shapely hips and legs, than plenty of vigorous walking. Try it, you'll feel more alive and alert after a good walk.

Action aimed at TV ads

Issue 2 commercials challenged in lawsuit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The participation of state officials in media advertisements against Issue 2 to ban leghold traps has been challenged by a lawsuit asking that the commercials be taken off the air.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Frank Reda denied a preliminary injunction Monday, but set a Friday hearing for the case which seeks $4 million in damages from the defendants.

The legal action is aimed at television ads showing Dale Haney, chief of the Ohio wildlife division, in a park ranger uniform urging defeat of the issue, and another spot in which Health Director John Ackerman warns of the danger of rabies.

Issue 2 would outlaw use of steel-jawed leghold animal traps, although its opponents claim it has wider implications.

The suit, filed by the International Fund for Animal Welfare, contended that "no authority exists whatsoever" for use of public employees to promote a partisan issue while acting in their official capacity.

"Opponents of Issue 2 in seeking public support for their position have utterly disregarded basic principles of fair play and in their zeal to win at any cost, they have compromised agencies of state government in blatant violation of law," the suit said.

The case was brought by the Toledo law firm of Wilkowski, Bloom and Sinko on behalf of William Brown of Bay Village and Linda Feltner of Euclid, members of IFAW.

State Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-Toledo, a partner in the firm, said Ackerman, Haney and two other defendants "blatantly exceeded that degree of political activity and involvement permitted public employees under state and federal laws."

Haney's appearance in uniform "creates the impression that he is voicing official state policy when in fact the state does not, nor can it have an official position on matters which the electorate is called upon to resolve," Wilkowski said.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has taken no position on the proposed constitutional amendment.

Opponents of the amendment claim it would ban all trapping in Ohio because of the vague wording and they argued that it would lead to uncontrolled growth of wildlife populations and increased danger of rabies.

In addition to Haney and Ackerman, the suit names Jack Russell, chief veterinarian of the health department, and Dr. William Jackson of Bowling Green State University, both of whom have taken part in anti-Issue 2 commercials.

Several Columbus radio and television stations were named specifically, and all outlets in the state that carry the ads were named but not identified.

The suit said the accused state officials all worked for agencies that receive federal funding and, therefore, were in violation of a federal statute precluding them from "interfering with or affecting an election result."

Traffic Court

Convicted of drunk driving, a Tuscarawas resident was sentenced to three days in jail Monday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Forty-year-old Gerald L. Stanley of Tuscarawas was committed to the Fayette County jail and fined $200 and costs. Acting Judge Robert L. Brubaker also suspended Stanley's operator's license for 30 days and until he obtains financial responsibility insurance within one year.

In sentencing Stanley, Judge Brubaker gave him credit for the time he has already served in the county jail since his arrest by Fayette County sheriff's deputies Saturday.

Also cited by sheriff's deputies, Jo Lynn Jones, 24, of 725 Brown St., forfeited a $500 bond on a charge of driving while intoxicated. She was arrested on the charge last Friday.

Washington C.H. resident, Nancy L. Hamilton, 36, of 1317 Lindberg Ave., was found guilty Monday of three traffic violations. She had been cited by local police officers last Tuesday in connection with a traffic accident on E. Court Street between Columbus Avenue and Fayette Street.

The acting Municipal Court judge fined the woman $200 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident. She was also cited for reckless operations and failure to wear corrective lenses. She was fined $35 and $25, plus costs, on those charges, respectively, but the judge suspended both fines on the condition she does not violate any traffic laws for one year.

Judge Brubaker heard several other traffic cases on Monday:

POLICE

Fines:
Ricky Malott, 18, 520 N. North St., $40 and costs with $20 suspended conditional on correcting defects within one week, unsafe vehicle. Clifford Lago, 19, of 217 Kathryn Court, $20 and costs, speeding.

Waivers:
Raymond B. Lockman, 48, 718 Warren Ave., $35, disobeying a traffic device. Brian K. Balzer, 25, 612 W. Oakland Ave., $35, failure to control. Harry T. Armstrong, 32, 728 Eastern Ave., $35, backing without safety. Stephen W. Pettry, 25, of 619 E. Paint St., $35, improper turning. Robert Paul Jr., 19, 717 Gibbs Ave., $35, unsafe vehicle. Donald G. Anders, 18, 110 N. North St., $35, improper passing. Gertrude Winters, 41, 906 Millwood Ave., $35, failure to maintain an assured clear distance. Mary L. Dewese, 45, of 1290 Dayton Ave., $35, speed excessive for conditions.

Forfeitures:
Steven E. Beverly, 22, 510 S. North St., $65, speeding.

SHERIFF

Waivers:
Nancy J. Woods, 20, of Jeffersonville, $40, disobeying a traffic signal.

PATROL

Fines:
Brenda J. Payton, 31, Jeffersonville, $30 and costs, speeding. Robert M. Jordan, 45, North Hampton, $25 and costs, speeding. Dale L. Wiseman, 19, of Greenfield, $50 and costs, speeding (committed to jail for fine). Richard N. Folger, 30, Dayton, $25 and costs, speeding.

Governor's wife

makes adjustments

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jeanne Mandel, wife of suspended Gov. Marvin Mandel, says she gained a new sense of freedom and privacy when she moved out of the governor's mansion in Annapolis. She also gained a weekly laundry chore and now has to search for a parking place.

Mrs. Mandel, 39, says she's had to make a number of adjustments in her new status as just another Maryland housewife since her husband was convicted and sentenced on federal corruption charges.

The Mandels now live in a $675-a-month rental house on five acres outside Annapolis. Former Lt. Gov. Blair Lee, now acting governor, occupies the 54-room governor's mansion.

Effect on children eyed

High court studies ruling on obscenity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is studying whether smut's effect on children should be considered in determining if material is obscene, even when children are not a factor in the case.

The justices agreed Monday to consider that question in a California case, the latest sequel to the court's 1973 landmark decision on what is and isn't obscene.

In its decision four years ago, the court laid down specific tests lower courts were to apply in deciding obscenity cases.

One test was whether "the average person applying contemporary community standards" would find the work patently offensive and appealing to prurient interest.

In reviewing the conviction of Los Angeles distributor William Pinkus, the court is considering whether children and "especially sensitive persons" are to be included in the definition of "community" when jurors try to determine the standards.

Pinkus' trial judge told jurors they could be considered. If that decision, affirmed by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, is upheld, it is conceivable that sellers of allegedly obscene materials will become easier targets for prosecutors.

Pinkus, doing business as Rosslyn

News Co., and Kamera, was convicted last year of mailing one movie and various magazines to adults in six states.

The jury said the materials were obscene. Pinkus was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $5,500 but has remained free on bond while appealing his conviction.

His appeal to the Supreme Court argues that children and sensitive people should not be considered part of the overall community when the specific obscenity charges do not involve either group.

Hillsboro junior tops 1000 yards

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Bruce Ford, the hard running tailback from Hillsboro, has Indian football fortunes turned around in less than one year. Already the Highland County team has assured itself of at least an even finish, going into this week's action with a fine 5-3 record.

The last time the Indians had a winning record was more than a decade ago, but then Hillsboro is doing things that they normally don't do. They defeated Washington C.H. at Gardner Park for the first time in nearly 20 years while they handed Greenfield McClain an 18-13 defeat for the first time in seven years.

Ford, the best runner Hillsboro has fielded since Kenny Captain in 1975, has amassed 1003 for the season, the first SCOL runner to top 1000 yards this season. Records are incomplete but Ford could quite possibly be the first Indian ever to break the mark. He makes Indian fans smile for another reason ... he's only a junior.

Dennis Combs of Miami Trace has the only other real chance to break 1000 yards this season. He has rushed for 786 yards in eight games, an average of 98.3. He needs 214 yards in the final two games of the season versus Greenfield and Washington C.H.

Larry Brickles of the Blue Lions ranks third in rushing with an average of 82 yards per game while David Creamer of the Panthers is close behind with a 79.3 average.

Miami Trace holds its customary commanding lead in both the offensive and defensive categories. The Panthers have rolled up 4165 yards this season, an average of 521 a game. They have also chalked up 496 points, an average of 62 each contest.

The Panthers need just 27 more points to reach last year's total of 523 points scored while they need two shutouts in the final two games to keep under last year's defensive total of 52 points yielded. The 1977 Panthers have already given up 51, a total that also ranks as lowest in the league.

Hillsboro remains in second place in team offense and seems destined to finish the season there. The Indians, behind the running of Ford, have gained 2072 yards, 1854 of it on the ground. Last season, Hillsboro gained only 1708 yards totaland managed only 60 points to rank them last in the league.

Greenfield still holds its second place standing in team defense but if the old proverb hold true, don't look for the Tigers in that spot next week. The proverb states: "Those that play Trace get erased."

The Tigers have given up just 1292 yards this season and only 92 points. The Panthers, of course, lead in defense. They have given up just 778 yards and 51 points. They are first against the rush while Washington C.H. is first against the pass.

Art Schlichter of Miami Trace still holds his bulging lead in SCOL passing, but he now has a new adversary in second place. Allan Storer of Greenfield McClain moved past Chris Emrich of Madison Plains by six yards to take over second spot.

Schlichter has completed 80 of 142 passes this season for 1301 yards and an average of 56.3. The Panther All-American needs just 351 yards in his final two games to eclipse last year's passing total of 1652 yards although he will play in only nine games this season.

Schlichter has now thrown 15 touchdown passes for the season and 17 conversion passes. Storer is next in line with four TD tosses while Duane Keller at Teays Valley has five conversion passes. Running and throwing, Schlichter has been worth 27 touchdowns and 25 conversions to the Panthers, or 212 points.

Storer, a junior who did not start the season at quarterback for the Tigers, has completed 37 of 92 passes for 40.2 percent and 629 yards. Emrich is close behind with 623 yards on the basis of 40 completions of 123 attempts for 32.5 percent. He is just a sophomore.

Although scoring just one touchdown last week, Creamer still leads the SCOL in scoring and became the first player to top 100 points this season. The all-purpose back for the Panthers has scored 102 points.

Ranking second are Combs and Schlichter with 88 points each followed in fourth by Brickles with 72 points. Bill Hanners made a big jump to fifth place after catching three touchdown passes last week. He has 68 points.

The Panthers have five of top six scorers in the league, combining for 402 of the 496 points this season.

The top scorers for individual teams are: Creamer, Miami Trace, 102; Brickles, Washington C.H., 72; Ford, Hillsboro, 54; Gary Williams, Wilmington, 40; Keller, Teays Valley, 20; Benny Stroup, Madison Plains, 20;

Dave Marshall, Circleville, 30; Jimmy Everhart and Jeff Jury, Greenfield McClain, 18.

The SCOL will feature another four game card this week as all league teams are in action. Washington C.H. will travel to Circleville, Miami Trace will visit Greenfield, Hillsboro is head for Teays Valley and Madison Plains will go to Wilmington.

LEAGUE'S LEADING RUSHER — Bruce Ford (46) of Hillsboro became the first runner in the SCOL to top 1000 yards this season last week with 109 yards versus Greenfield McClain. Ford leads the league with 1003 yards in eight games, an average of 125.4 yards a game. He has been instrumental in the Indians' surprising 5-3 season. (R-H photo by Tim Carson)

Moeller still holds big lead

Panthers hold onto third as Elder gets within nine points

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only Cincinnati Moeller, perhaps the nation's best prep football team, has a commanding lead in The Associated Press' Ohio high school ratings this week.

The Crusaders have piled up 31 straight victories, eight of them this season, for a 301-232 point lead over No. 2 Canton McKinley going into the last two weeks of play.

But Elyria Catholic and Sullivan Black River, the Class AA and Class A frontrunners, face stiff challenges.

Elyria Catholic, which won the Class AA postseason playoffs last fall, has won all eight of its games this season. Still, it has only a 242-230 margin over new runnerup Canton Catholic. The Canton school swapped spots with Cincinnati Wyoming, No. 2 last week.

Black River, also 8-0-0, is involved in an even closer race in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Medina County team's margin is just eight points over No. 2 Dalton 247-239.

No newcomers could make the Top Tens this week although Zanesville reappeared in the AAA elite. The Blue Devils, 7-1-0, moved up from an 11th place tie last week to No. 10.

In AAA, Washington Court House Miami Trace kept third and Cincinnati Elder moved up to fourth after Massillon, No. 4 last week, suffered a 22-21 setback to Warren Harding, Barborton was fifth, Gahanna was sixth, Lima Senior seventh, Logan eighth, Lakewood St. Edward ninth, and Mentor Lake Catholic No. 10.

In AA, Urbana was up two spots to fourth, replacing Beloit West Branch, which lost for the first time this season 29-12 to Canfield. Orrville retained fifth, followed by Brookfield, Pickerington, Mansfield Malabar, South Point and West Branch.

In A, defending playoff champion West Jefferson again was third and then, in order, came South Charleston Southeastern, Hanoverton United, Newcomerstown, Beallsville, Ash-tabula St. John's, Newark Catholic and Sandusky St. Mary's.

Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this week in The Associated Press poll (10 points for first to 1 point for 10th):

- CLASS AAA
1. Cincinnati Moeller, 8-0-0, 301 points.
 2. Canton McKinley, 8-0-0, 232.
 3. Washington C.H. Miami Trace, 8-0-0, 177.
 4. Cincinnati Elder, 6-1-0, 168
 5. Barborton, 7-1-0, 128.
 6. Gahanna, 7-1-0, 103.
 7. Lima Senior, 7-1-0, 89.
 8. Logan, 8-0-0, 76.
 9. Lakewood St. Edward, 6-1-0, 74.
 10. Mentor Lake Catholic, 7-1-0, 39.

Other schools receiving 10 or more points: 11. Zanesville, 38. 12. Massillon 35. 13. (tie), Youngstown Mooney and Centerville 33. 15. Cleveland St. Joseph 26. 16. Garfield Heights 21. 17. Louisville 12. 18. Lebanon 11. 19. (tie), Marietta, Parma Padua, Sandusky and Dayton Meadowdale 10.

Bonham, Fryman happy with trade

CINCINNATI (AP) — "You can never have too much," said Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam who said Monday he is also looking for relief pitching and pinch hitters.

The Reds also announced they had acquired right-hand starter Bill Bonham from the Chicago Cubs for Woodie Fryman, who quit in midseason and minor league hurler Bill Caudill.

Howsam, who up to this point had looked upon free agency as a plague, now believes he may have to live with it.

"We are taking a long look at it and will see how it fits our needs," said Howsam, who lost Don Gullett to the New York Yankees last winter.

Howsam said the addition of Bonham, 10-13 with a 4.35 earned run average, gives the Reds pitching staff "a good blend of experience with youth."

Bonham joins veterans Tom Seaver, Fred Norman and Jack Billingham plus youngsters Paul Moskau and Mario Soto.

"This gives us a good combination and there will be no pressure on the younger pitchers."

"It was a good trade for everybody. Young Caudill is a good pitcher but he's not ready yet...he'll be good for them later."

"I played for Chicago 6½ years and I wanted a change of scenery," said Bonham, contacted at his Los Angeles, Calif. area home before attending classes at California State College at Los Angeles. He is studying to be a social science teacher.

"Cincinnati is one of the teams I was hoping I'd get traded to."

"I could have become a free agent. The Cubs knew that and they agreed to make a trade," said Bonham, whose record was 10-13 last season with a 4:35 earned run average. "I hope to win some games in Cincinnati and maybe a pennant. They're a good club," he said.

Fryman, who quit the Reds July 12 in a dispute over pitching rotation and other problems, said he had "no animosity toward the Reds."

"I probably wouldn't have traded me either if I was in their position. I don't know," Fryman said

"I'll be happy in Chicago. The people are nice and the fans get interested. I'm not asking for a two-year contract. If I pitch okay I'll maybe play one more year. If I don't I'll be back on the farm raising tobacco."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

White clouds over Pa. town

By JACK ANDERSON

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. — Heading north along the winding highway that the townspeople call Green Garden Road, you can see white cotton clouds hanging low over the mountains. The tranquil scene is not, however, entirely the work of nature. The clouds originate from six mammoth, cylindrical cooling towers that rise from the banks of the Ohio River like idols to the gods of energy.

Superheated vapors from the nuclear works below form the clouds which appear so white and innocent. But they hang over Shippingport, Pa., like a pall. Beneath them is a dying town contaminated by a deadly white dust of lead, cadmium, chromium and iron and an even more deadly irradiated mist.

Twenty years ago, Shippingport was a pastoral farming community. Then, in 1953, the Atomic Energy Commission selected the virgin riverbank as the site for the nation's first pressurized water nuclear reactor. The bank has now been transformed into a series of booming, whirling energy compounds, a Disneyland of futuristic domes, cones, reactors, grids and transmission lines, like a scene from "Star Wars."

The nuclear works, endowed by the federal government, is operated by a consortium of power companies known by the acronym CAPCO. The five companies — Duquesne Light, Pennsylvania Power, Ohio Edison, Cleveland Electric and Toledo Edison — provide electricity for some seven million consumers. But it is the Shippingport townsfolk who bear the environmental burden.

Out of the CAPCO compounds, with their cooling towers and 950-foot coal desulfurization chimney, comes the deadly fallout — the mineral dust and irradiated mist that rain down upon the community. We were shown calcium sulfate chunks the size of pie plates, which fell like flying saucers upon the countryside. In the few months since our investigation began, we have also documented spillages of contaminated water of more than 9,000 gallons.

The Shippingport people are frightened and alarmed. Residents have filed a lawsuit against CAPCO. They charge that the power plants have disrupted their lives, ruined their property and destroyed the peaceful aura of their beloved Beaver Valley. Property values have plummeted 40 per cent; no one will touch the land near the nuclear site.

Others fear a lingering, invisible death from the radiation. There are tales of birds that walk backwards. Local hunters complain that the lush foliage along the riverbank has turned brown and sickly. The deer long ago abandoned their former haunts.

We found the power companies to be arrogant and secretive. The haze from the coal plants can be seen, but the gases that seep out of the plants and the tritium that seeps into the tap water are more difficult to detect.

Last July, a technician misaligned two valves, releasing 9,000 gallons of water contaminated by tritium. It gushed out of holding tanks and poured into the Ohio. Duquesne officials dutifully reported the spillage, as required by law, to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in Washington. But they neglected to warn the townspeople in Midland, a mile downstream.

Had the company bothered to notify the town, says the mayor, the river water intake flows could have been closed. Instead, an immeasurable amount of irradiated water flowed into the town's water system.

A month earlier, a 25,000 gallon tank of drinking water was contaminated. Company officials assured us the contamination was "well within federal drinking limits." Yet workers at the power station were cautioned against using the water until the tank could be flushed.

Dr. Ernest J. Sternglass, an animated, bespectacled professor of radiological physics at the University of Pittsburgh, has been tilting with the diant CAPCO for more than a decade.

County officials get sack of flies

VISTA, Calif. (AP) — Flies had gotten out of hand, Nellie Barber figured, so she filled a bag with two pounds of dead flies and presented them to the county Board of Supervisors.

They promptly appointed the 66-year-old retired school teacher to the county fly board.

"I have no compassion for flies," says Mrs. Barber, who has rigged up a backpack insecticide sprayer to stalk flies in her yard.

The problem, she says, are the chicken ranches near her home. Thousands of flies breed in chicken manure left beneath chicken coops.

Largely because of Mrs. Barber's efforts, the supervisors will consider a new fly-control ordinance in November.

How did she collect a sack of flies?

"I can vacuum them off a living room window," she said. "Then I squirt insecticide into the vacuum."

She said things are so bad that neighbors always ask each other, "How are your flies?"

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — True, not much jazz is regularly heard on radio. But National Public Radio is trying to help correct this with a 90-minute weekly series it began last month — "Jazz Alive."

For $400,000, or slightly more than the estimated cost of one "Starsky and Hutch" episode, the new series is airing the work of both little-known and well-known jazz folks for 30 weeks.

According to the show's producer, Steve Rathe, it's on 160 of NPR's 201 noncommercial stations, most of them FM, and was developed in response to the stations' request for a weekly jazz series.

"They said it was their first priority, although nobody ever really said why," he added. "But I think it's mainly because there's an increasing sophistication on the part of a very large audience which is turning from rock 'n' roll."

The series, usually hosted by pianist-educator Billy Taylor, began Oct. 2. It starred singers Ella Fitzgerald and Stevie Wonder and veteran trumpeter Roy Eldridge.

This week's edition has excerpts from the Montreaux Jazz Festival and features pianist Don Pullen and guitarist John McLaughlin's new group, Shakti.

Guests in coming weeks include Herbie Hancock's group, V.S.O.P., Count Basie alumnus Joe Williams, and mod trumpeter Don Ellis, he performing with the Ohio State University Jazz Ensemble.

Rathe, interviewed by phone from

NPR headquarters in Washington, D.C., said each show is taped on location, either by staffers from NPR or its member stations, then mixed and edited in Washington.

He said funds for the series — and eight pilot shows aired last spring — came from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

But now, he said, he's trying to drum up corporate underwriting for a second round of "Jazz Alive," with a projected budget of $800,000, or double the current bill for 30 weeks of sounds.

If the loot comes, he said, it'd go for special studio sessions, perhaps some NPR-produced concerts for broadcast and let more big bands be heard (guests now are paid slightly over union scale).

But a hefty chunk also would go for promotion, for newspaper and radio ads, perhaps even 10-second TV spots, to tell listeners when "Jazz Alive" airs in their locales, he added.

Such a national publicity push is necessary, he said, because most public radio stations are so strapped for bucks they have little or no money for touting their call letters or their shows.

The women of Cleveland organized the first soldiers' aid society in the United States in 1861.—AP

Opening lead - five of hearts.

Call it instinct, or feel, or what you will, but the fact is that a topnotch declarer usually finds the best line of play even though he does not see all 52 cards. For example, consider this deal where South made four hearts doubled. West made a good choice when he led a trump; otherwise, South would have made the contract easily. East took his ace and returned a trump to dummy's king.

Declarer led a club to the queen and West made another good play when he ducked. Had he taken the ace, South would have scored ten easy tricks (a spade, a spade ruff, five hearts, a diamond and two clubs).

South was now at the critical point of the play. He realized that if he cashed the ace of spades and ruffed a spade in dummy he would probably lose three spade tricks and go down one.

Declarer knew by now approximately how the unseen cards were divided. East had shown up with the ace of hearts and was marked by the bidding with good diamonds. West therefore had to have the ace of clubs and the missing spade strength for his double. All that South now had to do was take advantage of this knowledge.

He first cashed the ace of diamonds, then led the queen of spades! West took the king and returned a diamond. Declarer ruffed, trumped a low spade in dummy, then led the king of clubs and discarded a spade on it.

West took the ace of clubs, but was now between the devil and the d.b.s. He was forced to lead a club to dummy's jack or a spade to declarer's A-10, and either play would hand South his tenth trick.

Speaking of Your Health...

Acne Can Be Controlled

My brother and I are twins. We're good athletes in high school. We get along well with people. Our big problem is the acne that's been bothering us for two years. We're patient, but isn't there something we can do to speed up this darn thing? — R. and R. H., Wash. Dear R. and R.:

Recently, I wrote an article about acne for a magazine that is devoted entirely to the physical, emotional and social needs of the teen-ager. It is called "Real World" and is published by King Features Syndicate in New York City.

Many young people have since written to tell me that they now have a better understanding of acne and how it can be controlled.

You should know that acne is an inflammation and infection of the sebaceous glands that lie beneath the skin. These glands manufacture sebum, a fatty substance which passes from the gland to the skin by way of a tiny duct, or tube.

At the time of puberty, excess hormones are produced by the adrenal glands, the ovaries, the testes and other organs. Male sex hormones are produced by both boys and girls. It is this hormone that stimulates the sebaceous glands to manufacture more of the oily sebum.

When the ducts are open, all is well. It is when these ducts, or tubes, become blocked that trouble begins. The oily sebum backs up, the sebaceous glands become swollen, and pimples, pustules, blackheads and whiteheads form. This is acne. It becomes even more complicated when germs or bacteria enter the inflamed area and set up housekeeping. The germs flourish and thrive in this oily material, causing pus pimples and even boils.

Nuts, potato chips, chocolate, sweets of all kinds and gravies were once accused of being the chief cause of acne. Skin specialists today seem to minimize the relationship between food and acne. Go easy on them, anyway.

You can help the process of acne cure with a program of good facial hygiene, plenty of rest and well-balanced nutritious meals. Keep your hands away from your face, shoulders and neck, the areas most frequently affected by acne. There is a temptation to squeeze pimples, whiteheads and blackheads. Fingernails and sharp instruments can cause scarring that persists long after the acne has vanished.

Thorough cleansing of the skin with soap and water is a must. Expensive creams and lotions sound tempting, but are no more valuable than a good soap. Be wary of over-the-counter medicines and mail order "magical" preparations.

Parents, teachers paid for meeting

DETROIT (AP) — About 170 parents and teachers turned out for parent-teacher day at Northwestern High School. It's possible they really wanted to meet each other. It's also possible they wanted to pick up some cash.

Parents were offered $15, teachers, $30, to participate.

The money came from a special federal grant for the one-day affair. Invitations offering the cash bonus were sent to the parents of all 3,000 students.

Those who came heard several speakers, conferred with their children's teachers, toured the building and watched a program staged by the school's drama and music departments.

ORDINANCE NO. 24-77

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT FOR CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION OF TITLE II CONSTRUCTION PROJECT BETWEEN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON AND THE OHIO WATER DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, the City of Washington (hereinafter referred to as the "LGA") is under orders from the Director of Environmental Protection to construct certain waste water treatment and sewage collection facilities as specified in said orders; and

WHEREAS, the LGA desires to cooperate with the Ohio Water Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as the "OWDA") in the construction, maintenance and operation of such facilities through the OWDA's Local Government Agency Program, instituted pursuant to Regulations adopted by the OWDA on March 20, 1973, as amended under the provisions, terms and conditions set forth in Exhibit A attached hereto and made a part hereof; and

WHEREAS, the OWDA has stated its desire to cooperate in the construction, maintenance and operation of such facilities under the provisions, terms and conditions set forth in Exhibit A.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY the Council of the City of Washington, Fayette County, Ohio:

SECTION 1. That the LGA hereby approves the construction, maintenance, and operation of the aforesaid waste water treatment and sewage collection facilities in cooperation with the OWDA under the provisions, terms and conditions set forth in the "Cooperative Agreement for Construction, Maintenance and Operation of Title II Construction Project" as set forth in Exhibit A and hereby authorizes the Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Fiscal Officer of the LGA to execute such an agreement with the OWDA substantially in the form set forth in Exhibit A.

SECTION 2. That it is found and determined that all formal actions of this Council concerning and relating to the passage of this ordinance were passed in an open meeting of this Council, and that all deliberations of this Council and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action, were in meetings open to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Ohio Revised Code.

SECTION 3. That this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety of said City of Washington for the reason that the immediate construction of the waste water treatment and sewage collection facilities at the earliest possible time is necessary in order to protect the health of the inhabitants of the LGA by providing adequate disposition of waste water; wherefore, this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and immediately after its passage.

Lots of people these days are tuned in to the Lincoln assassination conspiracy. Books are coming out on the subject and research is bringing out some interesting facts. One author who has done much research on the subject is Bill McIlhenny. We'll have Bill's new book as soon as it comes out. However, I'll bet an outdated roll of Kodachrome that Bill will go into the Lincoln assassination plot when he comes here to Washington to speak at the Eastside Gym on November 14. The topic of his talk is to be THE GREAT CONSPIRACY, which should fit right into his latest book. Bill's first book was on the Klan, his second was on the ACLU and this third on Lincoln. Tickets are two bucks and you can get them at our shop and other places around town, also at the door the night of the talk.

A few weeks back we wrote about THE LAW, by Bastiat. Several people were prompted to come in and pick up this little book. I'm convinced there is no better book to spell out the function of government. Seems like today more and more folks are getting away from the original concept of limited government and they want big government to take over more and more of the areas that should, by right, be the responsibility of the individual. Government is the most expensive servant you can hire to do the job you should do for yourself. Also, we find that when we make government that big it becomes a master and not a servant of the people. These things are spelled out so beautifully in this little book by Bastiat. May we suggest that you might like to read THE LAW, by Bastiat.

SEMI FLIPS SPEWING LOAD — A semi tractor-trailer (pictured here) careened off Camp Grove Road at U.S. 35 early Tuesday flipping over and smashed through 13 rods of fence. The truck's driver, Floyd Thomas, whose age and address were unavailable at press time, was shaken up and suffered only a minor laceration to his head. Fayette County sheriff's deputies were uncertain of the exact cause of the crash, which spread debris over a large area of farm field.

Semi rig overturns, spills load

A semi tractor-trailer drove off the left side of Camp Grove Road at U.S. 35 leaving the driver slightly injured early Tuesday.

According to a Fayette County Sheriff's Department report, the driver, Floyd Thomas, whose age and address were unavailable at press time, failed to negotiate a right turn from U.S. 35 onto Camp Grove Road about 5:30 this morning. He was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by a county life squad unit where he was treated for a minor laceration of his head.

Sheriff's deputies reported the semi rig drove over 125 feet off the left roadside and flipped over on its side. The vehicle continued nearly another 70 feet on its side clipping a telephone pole and crashing through 13 rods of farm fence. Debris from the truck's load of pipe fittings, copper tubing and miscellaneous freight was reportedly spread over a large area of the field.

The rig's trailer was demolished and the cab was severely damaged in the crash, according to investigating deputies. They were uncertain of what caused the accident, but stated no citation has been issued against Thomas.

The tractor-trailer belongs to Helms Express of Jacksonville, Fla.

A farm combine collided with a pickup truck causing severe damage Monday on Ohio 38 at West Street in Bloomingburg.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies cited Herschel C. Mickle, 73, of Bloomingburg, for failure to yield after he pulled into the path of the combine about 4:30 p.m. Neither Mickle nor the other vehicle's driver, 28-year-old Hal J. Haymaker, 3563 Ohio 38-NE, were injured.

According to the sheriff's department report, Mickle was stopped at a stop sign on West Street and drove directly in front of the combine, which was headed southwest on Ohio 38 (Midland Avenue). The combine reportedly had a corn head mounted on its front which struck Mickle's pickup truck from the side and smashed through the windshield.

The combine sustained moderate damage.

Two cars collided at Delaware and E. Market streets Monday when one car drove left of center, Washington C.H. police officers reported.

Police officers cited Eddie L. Collins Jr., 19, of 717 Gibbs Ave., after he turned right onto Delaware Street and struck the front side of a van, driven by Robert D. Hill, 58, 4699 Washington-Waterloo Road around 5:04 p.m.

Hill was southbound on Delaware Street when Collins made the right turn on a red traffic signal, according to the police report. Neither driver was injured.

Another minor accident occurred in the 100 block of N. Main Street around 11:30 a.m. Monday, according to a police department report.

Robert P. Foster, 73, 711 Rawlings St., backed from a parking space at the First National Bank, 105 N. Main St., and struck another car which was stopped in traffic. Only slight damage resulted to the other vehicle, driven by Mary F. Havens, 35, of Bloomingburg. No injuries were reported.

Police officers also reported a single-body truck sustained damages to both its right rear tires about 9:45 a.m. Monday when it drove over a garden rake laying in the street along the 1100 block of Columbus Avenue. The truck driver, Billy I. Berry, 36, of 733 John St., told police he saw an object, but was unable to stop or change lanes because of the traffic.

Early Sunday morning, according to another sheriff's department report, a truck rolled into a parked car in the Stop 35 parking lot causing moderate damages to the car. The car belonged to Virginia Wilson, 35, of Jeffersonville, but investigating deputies did not identify the truck's owner. The incident occurred about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Post office vandal case probed

A glass door at the Jeffersonville Post Office, 12 S. Main St., was apparently smashed by vandals Monday night.

Michael Steagall of Jeffersonville reported to Fayette County sheriff's deputies the 7-foot by 4-foot door was broken out sometime between 10:05 and 10:14 p.m. Jeffersonville Postmaster Harold Mountcastle had driven past the post office about 10 minutes before Steagall discovered the damage.

Sheriff's deputies said the door glass was broken by some blunt object. No dollar estimate of the damage was reported.

A front door glass window at a S. Fayette Street residence was broken out late Saturday night, according to Washington C.H. police officers.

David Simmons, 603 E. Circle Ave., told investigating officers Monday the two roommates at the residence discovered the damage around 11 p.m. Saturday. They checked the house, but did not find anything missing. Simmons reportedly stated he believed the incident was an act of vandalism.

An estimated $20 in damages resulted from the act.

In one other vandalism incident Monday, George Anders of 9424 Simmons Road, reported to sheriff's deputies his mailbox was severely damaged by an large unknown object sometime around 8:45 p.m.

Thirteen-year-old Brad D. Massie, 624 Columbus Ave., reported to police officers his bicycle was stolen from Gardner Park Monday evening.

He reportedly stated he had forgotten the bike when he left football practice about 5:30 p.m. When he returned around 8:30 p.m., the $30-bicycle was gone. It had been parked in front of the shelter house.

Municipal Court

A local man, arrested on two counts of check fraud, was found guilty of one of the charges and received a 10-day suspended sentence in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday.

Ernest E. Moore, 39, who gave his address as 223 North Bend Court, received the suspended sentence on the condition he make restitution on the checks by 3 p.m. Nov. 4 and has no further offenses for two years. He was also fined $100 and court costs by Acting Judge Robert L. Brubaker and ordered to pay the fine and costs by Nov. 4.

The other charge of passing a bad check was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting witness. Moore was arrested Sunday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Olin W. Rodgers, 36, of 328 E. Court St., signed a waiver Monday on a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication. He paid the court $65 in fines and costs.

Local police officers arrested Rodgers on the charge last Thursday.

Clyde Riddle of Loveland also signed a waiver on a charge of hunting on private property without permission and paid a $32 fine and costs.

He was issued a summons to appear by Fayette County game protectors Sept. 29 on a private warrant.

Revival services slated at church

Special revival services are being held at the Church of God, corner of Harrison and Newberry streets this week.

The nightly worship services, which begin at 7:30, began Monday and will continue through Friday.

The evangelist for the revival is Mrs. Ozie Wattleton of Atlanta, Ga. She returns to the local church, which she was pastor of from 1963 to 1967. She is currently a full-time evangelist in the Church of God.

The services feature special music each night by members of the congregation and visitors. Pastor Jerri Bomgardner has extended a welcome to all area residents to attend the services.

The Maple Grove United Methodist Church is also sponsoring revival services this week.

The services are scheduled for 7:30 each night and are conducted by the evangelist Rev. Wesley Thatcher.

The Issue

Like an ICEBERG

The trapping amendment could effectively outlaw all forms of trapping in Ohio — furbearers, farm pests, even rats and mice. It could be just the first step toward outlawing all hunting and fishing.

Anti-trapping forces are planning to place before Ohio voters what appears to be a simple amendment to ban the use of the leghold trap. If they succeed, it will amend the state constitution, posing a serious threat to the survival of Ohio wildlife. Every Ohioan will feel its consequences.

In much the same way that the most treacherous parts of an iceberg lie beneath the surface, this amendment masks a much more serious attempt to ban all trapping, and all taking of wildlife.
